7 次の英文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。【30点】

One dollar and eighty-seven cents! Della counted the money three times. Tomorrow was Christmas Day and she had only one dollar and eighty-seven cents for Jim's present. With a salary of twenty dollars, there was never any money (ア)[leave]. ①She wanted [nice / buy / Jim / very / to / something], but she knew she couldn't get anything with one dollar and eighty-seven cents!

②There were two things that this young couple were very proud of – Della's hair and Jim's watch.

Della took one last loving look at her hair and put it back up again. She started walking to the door. A few tears (イ)[fall] down her pale cheeks on the old red carpet. She wiped her eyes and went out of the apartment.

Della ran up the stairs to the second floor and walked into the shop.

"Will you buy my hair?" asked Della.

"I'll buy your hair for twenty dollars," said the clerk.

"Please give it to me quickly," said Della.

For the next two hours Della was so happy as she searched the shops for Jim's present. She checked every shop before she found the perfect present. It was a platinum watch chain. It was a simple design, but it looked expensive. She paid (ウ) dollars for it and went home with only eighty-seven cents. With this new chain, he could proudly check his watch in front of anybody.

④When Della arrived home, she looked at herself carefully in the mirror.

"What will he think of me? Oh, he will probably leave me. But what could I do with a dollar and eighty-seven cents?"

Then Della sat at the table with the watch chain in her hand. When she heard him coming up the stairs, she said a little prayer to herself.

The door opened and Jim came into the room. Jim stopped at the door. He looked at her with a strange look on his face.

⑤Jim, don't look at me like that," she cried, "I had my hair cut off and sold it because I wanted to buy you the best Christmas present I could. It will grow again. Say, 'Merry Christmas!' Jim, and let's be happy. I have bought you a wonderful present."

"Have you cut off your hair?"

"Yes. Cut it off and sold it," said Della. "Don't I look as pretty as before? I am still me, with or without my hair."

Jim looked around the room and said weakly, "You say your hair is gone?"

"You don't need to look for it," said Della. "It is sold and gone. Now it is Christmas Eve and we are going to be happy. Shall I cook your dinner?"

Jim hugged Della. He took a package from his pocket and put it on the table.

"Don't misunderstand me, Della," he said. "Even if you shaved your head, I would still love you just as much. But when you open that package on the table, ⑥you will [was / why / understand / shocked / I] at first."

Della quickly opened the package. ⑦When she saw the present, she screamed, at first for joy, but then for sadness. Jim had to hold her in his arms for a long time before she stopped (ウ)[cry].

There was a beautiful set of hair combs on the table. She wanted to buy the combs when she saw them a long time ago. They were perfect for her beautiful hair.... They were very expensive combs and she sometimes dreamed of them without (エ)[believe] she would ever be able to buy them. And now they were hers, but she no longer had the hair to put them in.

And then she jumped up and cried, "Oh, I forgot!" Della held out a present to Jim. The lovely chain flashed in her hand.

"Isn't it lovely, Jim? I hunted all over town to find it. You will have to check the time a hundred times a day, now! Give me your watch. I want to see how nice they are."

Jim sat down on the sofa, put his hands behind his head and smiled.

"Della," he said, "let's put ⑧our presents away and keep them until some time later. They are too nice to use, and also, I sold the watch to buy your combs."
